To Whom it May Concern

I am pleased to provide this letter of recommendation for Ball Construction.

We have had the pleasure of working with Ball Construction on numerous projects since 2001 – typically for Institutional Clients – and throughout that period they have maintained their long tradition of quality construction and customer service.

Most recently we have completed two successive projects for a Student Housing Co-operative working closely with the entire project team at Ball Construction to successfully navigate the complex municipal approvals and project financing challenges on behalf of a motivated, but relatively inexperienced Client. These projects were successfully delivered through a Construction Management procurement model providing a high level of transparency and reassurance to the Client group. Particular credit is due to the original in-house Estimating staff, the ongoing Project Manager and in particular the exceptional on-site Supervisory staff. Experience shows.

Throughout our long association with Ball Construction and despite the inevitable progression and turnover of their own staff our Design work has been consistently supported throughout Construction by an exceptional depth of experience and relentless commitment to Customer / Client service.

We can recommend Ball Construction without hesitation for any project that requires informed and reliable initial scope analysis and feasibility consultation followed by the highest level of construction and Client service standards.

Sincerely
